When you first put your cd in this screen will appear. To install Farm Trends for the first time you will want to click the words "Install Farm Trends" or the second choice which is outlined in red below.

After clicking the words "Install Farm Trends" this window will pop up. At this time the setup is configuring components needed for the install and Farm Trends.

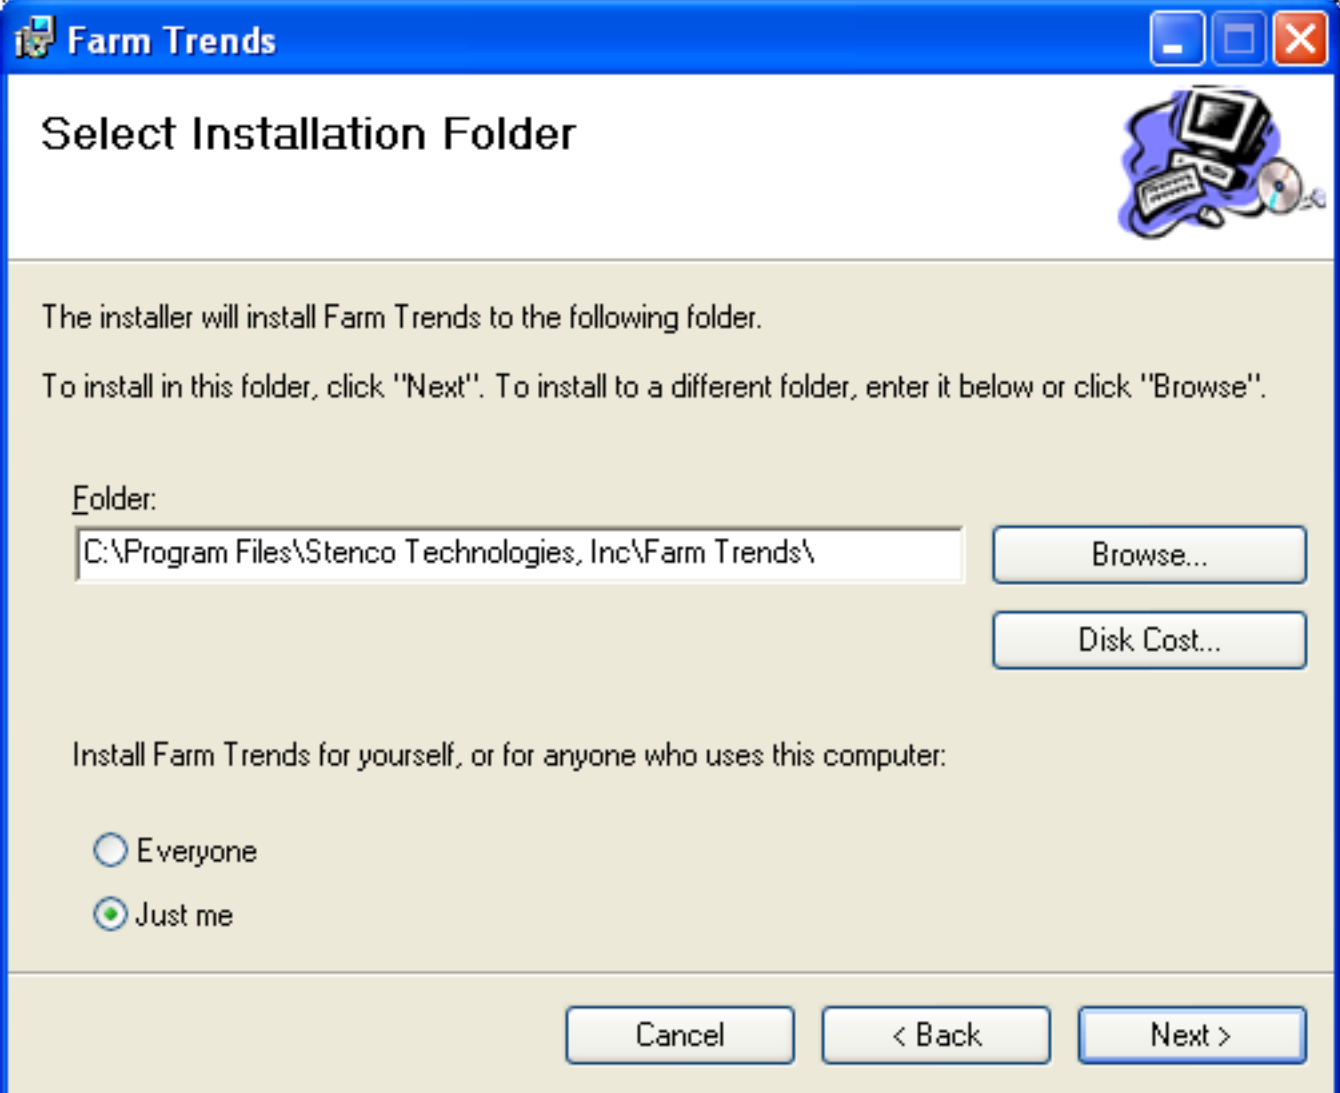

When the setup is done configuring the components needed for the install and Farm Trends the window below will appear. To get started click the "Next" button.

Once you have clicked the "Next" button this window will appear.
It is recommended to NOT change the folder path unless you are an advanced user.

You can choose to install Farm Trends so only you can use this application or so everyone who has access to the computer you are installing on can use Farm Trends.

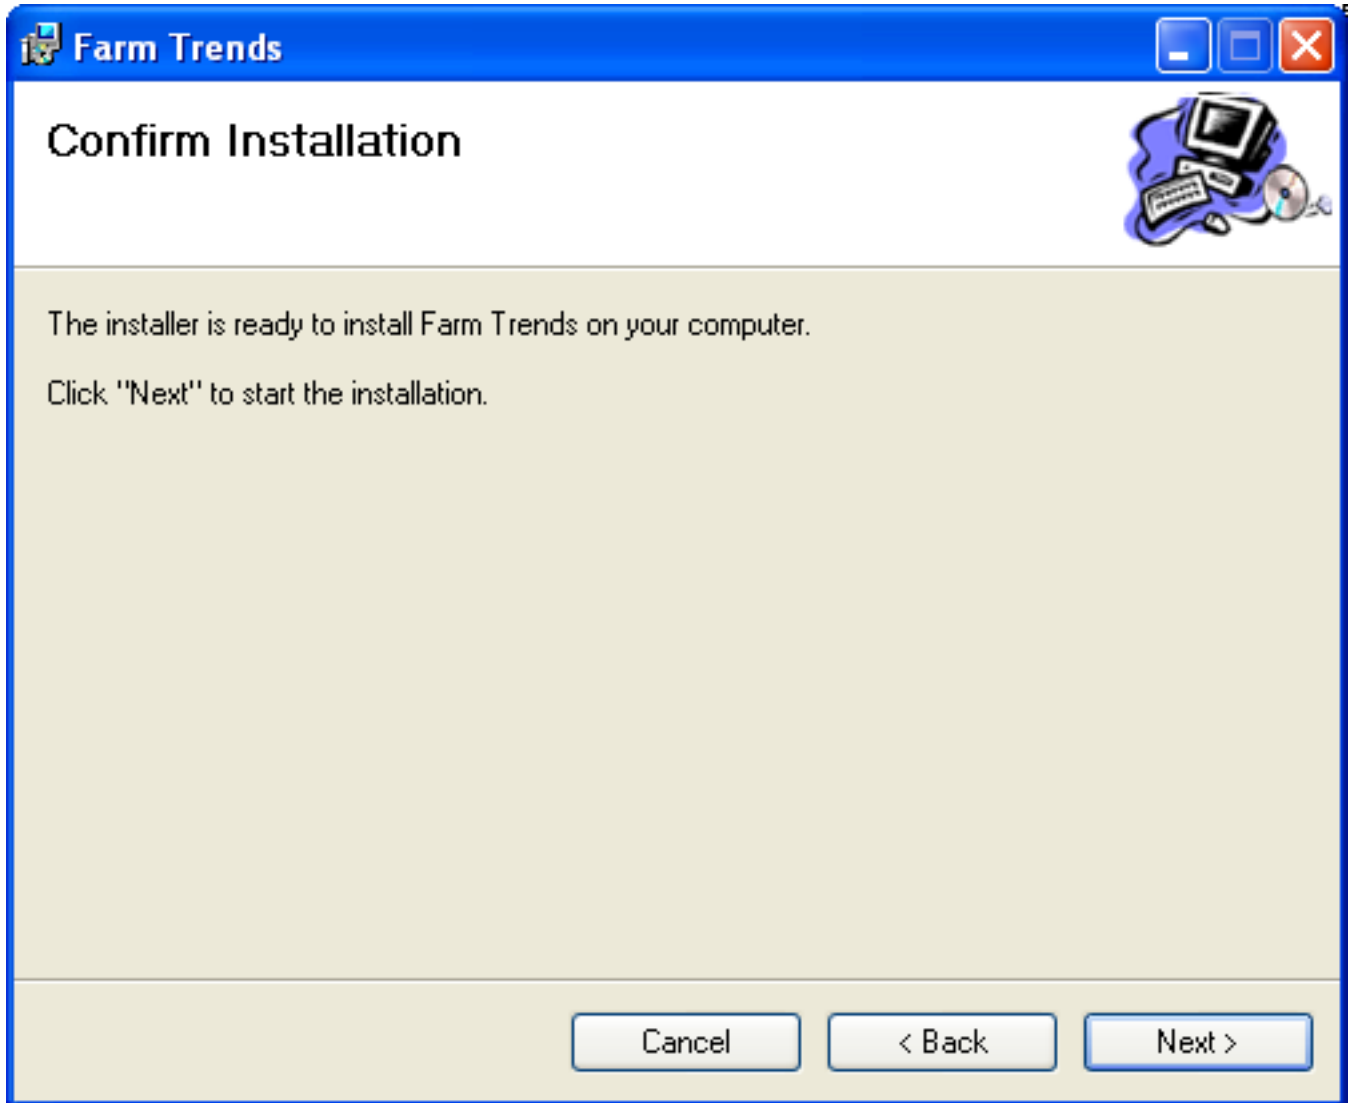

Click the "Next" once you have decided whether or not to change the folder and have selected to install this application for just you or everyone who has access to the computer installing Farm Trends.

The screenshot shows a Windows-style dialog box titled "Farm Trends" with a blue header bar. The main title is "Select Installation Folder". In the top right corner, there is an icon of a computer with a CD-ROM. The text inside the window reads: "The installer will install Farm Trends to the following folder. To install in this folder, click 'Next'. To install to a different folder, enter it below or click 'Browse'." Below this text is a text input field labeled "Folder:" containing the path "C:\Program Files\Stenco Technologies, Inc\Farm Trends\". To the right of the input field are two buttons: "Browse..." and "Disk Cost...". Below the input field, there is a section titled "Install Farm Trends for yourself, or for anyone who uses this computer:" with two radio button options: "Everyone" (unselected) and "Just me" (selected). At the bottom of the window, there are three buttons: "Cancel", "< Back", and "Next >".

Now that you have selected where to install Farm Trends and who has access to Farm Trends you will be shown a "Confirm Installation" window like the image below.

At this point just click the "Next" button and the setup will start the installation of Farm Trends.
